Friday 6th May

King Charles Spaniel

I thoroughly enjoyed judging one of my favourite breeds and the classes were, in the main, filled with refined toy spaniels of good quality whose enchanting nature was gentle and reserved. I do feel however, that we need to safeguard the required cobbiness, bone and substance. Whilst heads will mature considerably with age, they can only do so if the initial characteristics comprise of roundness of skull and a wide jaw thus allowing fullness of cheeks and muzzle to develop. I was concerned amongst some of the young stock that these were lacking. All the dogs were very tolerant of the gentle inspection of their mouths, something which we now need to expect from judges as the norm.

Along with the head, squareness of body and relative substance distinguish this breed from the Cavalier King Charles Spaniel and it is vital that this is maintained in order to preserve the differences illustrated in the breed standard.

1st Rushton's NISYROS DONNIE DARKO B/T headed a nice class and head being the pertinent word - I simply loved it! Those illustrious eyes depicting such a sweet expression so characteristic of this breed. Super width of jaw with that soft full muzzle, well placed nose and the richest of tan points to enhance. Lovely body having wide deep chest and strong sturdy legs well set under. Moved accurately in the class but returned to the ring for the challenge not appearing so confident lowering his overall deportment which was disappointing. A lovely dog.

Moved with distinctive gait holding a level topline and a lovely length of stride. Just lost out on the fabulous headpiece of 1.

1st Anderson & Watts NISYROS COOL HAND LUKE Tri of very similar stamp to the OD class winner. Head of superior quality with turn up being correct and the overlay of those well cushioned black lips, fullness to the cheeks finishing the gentlest of expressions. Ears set well being a little above the eye line and heavily fringed. Moved rather briskly and occasionally became a tad untidy in front but settled at a slightly steadier pace in the challenge. Well marked throughout, in good body and coat well presented. Seriously considered for further honours.

- Portingale's TUDORHURST BRIGADIER Fabulous B/T of the perfect balance and shape gives that lovely breed outline when standing. Has substance and bone throughout being a really masculine dog but void of any form of coarseness. Super body to examine having a fabulous deep wide chest, rounded rib and short level back.
